

The Association of College English Teachers of Alabama

Call for Proposals

ACETA's 66th Annual Conference
Gadsden State Community College
Gadsden, Alabama
February 21-22, 2014

A Good Day's Work

Teachers and graduate and undergraduate students of the humanities are invited to submit presentation proposals for ACETA's 66th Annual Conference to be held February 21-22, 2014, at Gadsden State Community College. The conference will explore the interactions between the humanities and the world of work. Potential topics may include but are not limited to

- The American Dream
- Blue collar/white collar/pink collar
- Working the land
- Work as social enterprise
- Escape from/to work
- Under-employment/unemployment
- Work in music and film
- Work and self-worth
- Individualism and community in the workplace
- Callings
- The rhetoric of the workplace
- Digitized work
- Learning on the job
- Academic labors
- Composition and career education
- The job of teaching and learning
- Technical writing

Proposals of no more than 500 words should be sent by Friday, December 6, 2013, to Christy Hutcheson, Executive Secretary, ACETA, Lurleen B. Wallace Community College, by email to chutcheson@lbwcc.edu. Electronic submissions are preferred. Proposals should also include the presenter's name, school affiliation, and position. Audiovisual needs should be indicated as well.

Presentations will be limited to 15 minutes each. Presenters must pay the conference registration fee, which includes membership dues; this fee will be waived for undergraduate presenters.

For more information, please visit ACETA's website at <http://alcollegeenglish.org/>.